ESSAY X

In the essay, "The Multitasking Generation," Claudia Wallis explains a generation in which students are trying to shovel in information from many different sources all ~~at~~ at once. She describes a family of fars in the year two thousand. Where kids are claiming to do homework while IMing, listening to iTunes, and watching a DVD. Claudia tries to explain the question that every parent ~~thru~~ in this generation is asking themselves, "Is all the information hurting or helping my child?" I believe people who multitask can not execute a task as effectively ~~or~~ or efficiently as those who focus on a single topic. Studies have proven that true ~~a~~ attention is not given, grades show real evidence, and personally it is impossible to stay focused.

In 2001 Joshua Rubinstein, David Meyer and Jeffrey Evans published Human Perception and Performance. This journal of ~~experia~~ psychology was ~~a~~ a research experiment, with Emphasis on Multitasking. Research shows that our brains do not perform true ~~multitasking~~ multitasking. Our full ~~a~~ attention is not ~~giving~~ given to one subject or topic. Instead, our brains pauses subject A to go to subject B and then back to A. It is also proven that errors increase while ~~notting~~ multitasking and things take far longer.

Secondly grades show alot about a child and the way one studies. My mother is a grade school teacher and I was discussing the subject of Multitasking and grades with her. She told me about some of the students in her class and how how she can tell a child's study habits from another's. She Explained to me ~~who~~ how the Children who work quietly on their own maintain good grades, while the ones who need more help are the first ones to show her how to correct the bad player.

My own experience is another EXAMPLE of Multitasking ~~is~~ Calamity. I'm part of the so called
M Generation, ^{I AM what the ESSAY CALLS GADGET OPSESSED}
~~which are I pad, cell phone, laptop~~.

~~try to~~ I can multitask like all of the others in my generation. Unlike the others I know when to turn the gadgets off, ^{interrupt} I waste time to study or do important tasks. I have tried to watch ^{television} ~~TV~~ or listen to my I pad and study and ~~the~~ just my grades have suffered the ^{consequences} ~~consequences~~.
So now I find a quiet place in my mind and in my house to study.

My firm Belief ^{is} that ~~the~~ Multitasking Generation ^{and the} ~~are~~ ^{are} ~~to~~ ^{to} ~~fall~~ ^{fall}

Can Become One of the finest generations of ~~all~~ ^{All} times.

If ~~we~~ we can learn to become the parents who teach our kids ~~to~~ when to turn the gadgets off and

our Brains on Full Blast. Habitual Multitasking

may can condition our Brains to an over ^{stimulated} ~~excited~~ state.

Having A Detrimental Effect on our Grades, Mood
and general well Being.
