Hi Laura,

No problem. Our transcripts notate CR for Grade and the Notation field lists PL (Prior Learning) but for military credits, we added JST as this information was gathered from the Joint Services Transcripts. We also award military credits as electives, PE credit, and Health Science. Those are standard credits awarded which are all coded from the course level MIL-(course). I hope this helps.

Hello Mark,

We use Banner at SBCC. I was hoping to get examples of how CPL is displayed on official transcripts at different colleges to help us develop a model that will work for our institution. Our IT department will definitely be involved in the technical aspects of the project.

Thank you all very much for your guidance and assistance.

Hi Laura,

Would you be able to tell me if your college is using Colleague? If so, I can provide you screenshots of the system itself with hopes of having your IT replicate ours.

Hi Laura,

I hope this email finds you and your loved ones healthy and safe. I believe that at Norco, and more specifically within the Riverside Community College District we have resolved how to transcribe CPL, but I have CC'ed onto this email Dr. DeAsis, who is our Dean of Admissions and Records and can explain the annotations we use for transcripts of CPL better than I.

I'm really not clear on your question regarding a student who does not see a counselor. Since CPL is equated to a local college course, it's equivalency should be regarded by 4-year institutions as it always regards that course when they encounter a transfer student from Norco- the only difference being that they were awarded credit for that course in a non-standard fashion. CSU's have verbally agreed to accept courses we award through CPL, but I am not aware of any written guarantee or promise to do so yet. I am not sure if that addresses your second question.

As to any Math courses awarded credit through CPL, I am not directly aware of any, but our district keeps all our military CPL awarded on TES, that can be publicly searched. You can start by looking there and in the meanwhile I will ask that question at our next CPL meeting.

front of me.

I hope that helps somewhat and if I only generated more questions please don't hesitate to ask. I'm sure someone within this thread of emails will do a better job than I.

Warmest of regards,

Dear Candace, Peggy and Justin,

Thank you so very much for last week's CPL Brown Bag webinar presentations and for sharing all of the wonderful tools and resources you have developed to implement CPL assessments on your campuses. These are so valuable to all of us who are in the process of building our CPL policies and processes.

I am reaching out to you to see if it would be possible for you to share with me examples of how you are transcribing CPL credits on your official transcripts. I am especially interested in seeing the different types of footnotes that your campuses have developed to denote these credits and how they are reflected on the official transcript.

I am wondering if students who do not meet with a counselor and who may not fully understand the nuances of each transfer institution are confused when they see a course listed on the official transcript that may not correspond to the course/credit that the four-year university will award. Have you heard any feedback from transfer bound students when they read their official transcripts on whether or not they are able to discern the differences between course equivalencies awarded through CPL assessments to meet Associate Degree requirements versus how those credits are interpreted by various four-year universities?

I have another (unrelated) question related to CPL for math courses. Do you know of any colleges who have identified any math courses to grant equivalency through CPL assessments (other than AP/IB/CLEP)?

Thank you again for your help and for the leadership you are providing on this project.

Sincerely,

Laura Castro
