5. Course Number and Title: ESL 31 Writing Support for the Sciences for Non-Native Speakers
Short Title: Writing for Sciences for NNSs
Discipline: English as a Second Language (ESL)
Distance Learning Offering(s): Online Course
Justification: The ESL Department wants to expand its offerings to support students who are already enrolled in science courses at Palomar College and who need focused support for the type of writing they are doing in their science courses. It's often the case that in science courses, most of students' time is spent learning the science content, but little time can be devoted to writing (and reading) instruction in the science classroom. By offering this one-unit course, we're hoping to serve this need and expand our offerings to students who need the type of support we offer but who are already taking mainstream science courses. This course is designed for students to take currently with a science course.
Lawrence Lawson
6. Course Number and Title: ESL 110 College Composition for Non-Native Speakers
Short Title: College Composition for NNSs
Discipline: English as a Second Language (ESL)
Prerequisite: ESL 103, or eligibility determined through the English as a Second Language placement process or ESL 106
Transfer Acceptability: UC/CSU Transfer Course - Yes
Distance Learning Offering(s): Online Course
Grading Basis: Grade/Pass/No Pass
Justification: This course is being created in response to AB 705 where the Chancellor's office has encouraged ESL departments to create courses that mirror transfer-level English composition courses as one way to achieve the goal of getting ESL student to and through English 100 within three years. See the Chancellor's guidance statement here: "Explore credit ESL pathways to transfer-level English that allow for credit ESL faculty to [...] create a credit ESL course that is the equivalent of transfer-level English." This is done not to supplant English 100 but to enhance our support for non-native speakers of English and ensure they have the support needed to get through college-level English in three years, per AB 705.
Lawrence Lawson
7. Course Number and Title: LT 105 Research Skills & Informed Learning
Short Title: Research & Informed Learning
Discipline: Library Technology (LT)
Course included in the following programs:
  - a. Library and Information Technology - A.S. Degree Major/Cert. Achievement 18 units/more (In Review)
Transfer Acceptability: CSU Transfer Course - Yes
Distance Learning Offering(s): Computer Assisted Instruction
Grading Basis: Grade/Pass/No Pass
Justification: Demand for Library/Media Technicians continues to grow in San Diego County and the state, particularly in school libraries. This course gives students a conceptual foundation in the core components of the research process and information literacy as well as hands-on practice with using online libraries, search tools, citation tools, and search strategies. The new course is built on the Association for College & Research Libraries' Framework for Information Literacy, <http://www.ala.org/acrl/standards/ilframework>, and will also introduce students to the American Association of School Libraries' Standards Framework for Learners, <https://standards.aasl.org/wp-content/uploads/2017/11/AASL-Standards-Framework-for-Learners-pamphlet.pdf>. Our professional standards listed above are essential skills for students in the Library and Information Technology program because they support their success in other LIT courses, help Library/Media Technicians to navigate their libraries' collections, and provide the foundation for enabling them to develop informed learners among library users.

This course will be a requirement for the LIT certificate or degree. We plan to phase out our current 1-unit course on information literacy and replace that requirement with this new 3-unit course on research skills and informed learning. This will not increase the unit requirements for our certificate because of other changes we are planning to make to our requirements. The benefit of this new course in place of the current 1-unit course on information literacy is that it will give us time to teach students about their own research practices at the same time we are teaching them about the information needs and informed learning opportunities for the populations they will serve as library technicians, not only in school libraries but in public, academic, and special libraries as well.
