Vision Mission and Values

Vision

In alignment with the Chancellor's Office Vision 2030, Palomar's Office of Dual Enrollment focuses on equity in access, success, and support.

To expand access to underserved rural areas and to marginalized students who may not already be college bound or are underrepresented in higher education.

To increase high school graduation rates, college attendance rates, and college and career readiness for students who are historically underrepresented in higher education, low-income, or first generation through implementation of dual enrollment pathways.

To support dual enrollment students in a caring environment that fosters students' sense of belonging and strengthens their academic self-concept.

Mission

Palomar College Dual Enrollment's mission is to establish high-quality, innovative pathways designed to expand access to college credit for historically underserved populations in order to equitably increase college attendance and graduation rates so that students can have a strengthened sense of belonging and academic self-concept.

Values

The Office of Dual Enrollment's values are aligned with the college's values. Through creating dual enrollment and middle college partnerships, Palomar College strengthens its commitment to transforming lives for a better future.

Access – Expand access to college for historically underserved, first generation, low-income students by making participation easy and free with a robust support system to successfully navigate higher education.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion – Connect with a diverse student body and pursue underserved and historically underrepresented students who have historically not attended college by including cross-culturally responsive curriculum in the dual enrollment pathways.

Academic Excellence – Increase college readiness and strengthen students' academic self-concepts while holding students to high standards of academic excellence in a caring environment.

Student Focused – Build students' confidence in taking college courses and increasing their sense of belonging in higher education through positive experiences at Palomar College.

Community – Develop relationships and identify social capital and agency in our communities to recognize the unique needs and strengths across the district in order to make connections between high schools, colleges, and employment.

Program Design

What is Dual Enrollment?

Dual Enrollment is a CCAP partnership between a high school and Palomar College. CCAP is the California College and Career Access Pathways, which allows high school students to take college courses, taught by college faculty, on the student's high school campus, a Palomar College education center, or online. High school students are provided an opportunity to achieve academic goals through college coursework in a challenging, supportive, and motivating setting. Students may earn significant college credit, a certificate, and/or an AA degree upon high school graduation, as well as credits towards a high school diploma and a university transfer.

Middle and Early College High School

Middle and early college high schools are components of Dual Enrollment and are unique configurations of high school grade levels and postsecondary education. Students typically begin college classes as high school freshmen and continue through to high school graduation. Middle and early college high schools allow high school students to earn substantial college units concurrently with high school graduation credits, as well as receiving direct and invaluable access to Palomar College services and college experience. Classes are typically held at Palomar College education centers.

Tuition, Fees, and Textbooks

Palomar College waives the tuition, health fees, and student fees for Dual Enrollment students, and the textbooks are provided by the high school. If the Dual Enrollment class is held at a Palomar College education center, and the student chooses to drive and park on campus, the student must purchase a parking permit if parking a vehicle on campus. Middle and early college students should contact Dual Enrollment regarding parking permits.

Benefits of Dual Enrollment

Dual Enrollment offers high school students the opportunity to earn college credit for free, saving time and money while preparing for higher education. Key benefits include:

- Academic Advantage:
 - Start college education while still in high school, in a familiar environment.
 - Earn both high school and college credit for the same course.
 - Finish a college degree or certification faster after high school.
- Financial Savings:
 - Free access to all Palomar College resources.
 - Tuition, health, and student fees are waived, and textbooks are provided by the high school.
 - Significant savings for students and families.
- College Success:
 - Better prepared for college rigor with a higher rate of success and graduation.

Things to Consider Prior to Taking a College Class

Academic Expectations

- College-level content and faculty expectations may be a difficult adjustment.
- A 'C' grade is required to pass. A 'D' is not sufficient for college credit.
- Most, but not all, classes are transferable to four-year universities.
- All grades become a permanent part of the official college transcript.
- Failing a class could adversely affect future financial aid eligibility.

Participation and Attendance

- Students must start the class when it begins.
- Instructors can see when students log into Canvas and how often.
- Students are expected to attend class regardless of sports or extracurriculars.
 - If conflicts arise, students should discuss with the professor on the first day to explore accommodations.
- Most instructors do not accept late work, even for athletes—check the syllabus.

Time Management and Study Habits

- Commit to the class and homework; each unit requires 2-3 hours of studying per week.
- Use instructor office hours or Palomar's free tutoring for additional support.

Student Responsibility

- Asking for help is the student's responsibility.
- Students with 504s or IEPs must contact Palomar College's Disability Resource Center (DRC) for accommodations at www.palomar.edu/drc.

Dual Enrollment vs. Advanced Placement vs. Concurrent Enrollment

Dual Enrollment:

- Dual Enrollment classes typically replace a high school class.
- The dual enrollment grades are included on a student's official high school and college transcripts.
- Students earn college credit when they pass the class with a grade of 'C' or better.

Advanced Program:

- The Advance Placement (AP) program created by College Board offers college-level courses for high school students and prepares students for an AP exam.
- If the student scores high enough on the AP exam, they may qualify for college credit.
- The fee for each AP Exam is $98.

Concurrent Enrollment:

- High school students take a college course at a Palomar campus or online.
- Class can still meet both high school & college credit – need to check with high school & college counselor.
- Fees: Not charged tuition with a K12 on file (each semester) but will pay approximately $38 in student fees per semester.
- Books: Student responsible for purchasing textbooks.

Advanced Placement (AP): Students take AP courses in high school to prepare for exams that may earn college credit, depending on the score and the college's policy. However, not all colleges accept AP credits.

Dual Enrollment & Concurrent Enrollment: Guarantees college credit for grades of 'C' or better, with broader acceptance across universities.

In summary:

- AP Requires a passing exam score, and credits may not be accepted by all colleges.
- Dual Enrollment/Concurrent Enrollment Guarantees college credit for grades of 'C' or better, with broader acceptance across California universities.

Syllabus

The course syllabus outlines key details such as objectives, requirements, grading, assignments, office hours, and required materials. Students should review the syllabus weekly to stay informed about deadlines and grades. It also includes attendance policies, classroom behavior expectations, and academic integrity guidelines. If students have any questions, they should contact the instructor for clarification.

Course Rigor & Homework-Study Time

Dual Enrollment courses adhere to the same academic standards as college-level courses. Students must be prepared for the commitment required to succeed, which includes additional study time and active participation.

On average, students should plan to study at least two hours per week for every hour spent in class. For example, a three-unit course would require a minimum of six hours of study and assignment preparation each week.

Reminder: Grades are earned, not given.

- Follow class rules and respect the rights of others.

Parking on Any Palomar College Campus

Semester Parking Permits

Any student driving to and parking on any Palomar campus for their classes needs to purchase a parking permit each semester. A vehicle, the permit is $46. Up to five vehicles can be listed on each permit; however, only one vehicle can be on any campus at one time. Student parking permits are purchased online on MyPalomar. Dual Enrollment students should contact Dual Enrollment at dualenrollment@palomar.edu.

Daily & Hourly Visitor Passes

If students are coming to campus for counseling, tutoring, or for any other service, only a visitor parking permit is needed. Palomar uses the ParkMobile digital parking system. ParkMobile provides daily and hourly parking permits on all Palomar College campuses. Visitor parking permits are $1.00 per hour or $5.00 per day and purchased through the ParkMobile app.

Using the app, the user will insert a parking Zone Number which identifies where the user will be parking their car. Zone Number signage is displayed throughout each campus' parking lots.

A Palomar College parking permit or visitor's pass must accompany a disabled placard for both students and visitors.

 - There is a hold on the student's record (e.g., past due fees, address hold, SSN verification, disciplinary hold, etc.).
 - The student is officially enrolled in the same course but a different section.
 - There is a time conflict with another course.

Add, Drop, and Withdrawal Policies and Procedures

Dates and Penalties

Important: Dual Enrollment courses count towards high school graduation.

- If a student decides not to complete a course, they must contact their high school counselor first. Dual Enrollment will then drop the student.

Drop Policy:

- Within the first 2 weeks of a full semester or 20% of a short-term course: No grade assigned, no record.
- Second to eighth week of a full semester or 20%–50% of a short-term course: Withdrawal (W) grade.
- After the eighth week or 50% of a short-term course: Evaluative grades (A, B, C, D, F, FW) or Incomplete (I) assigned.

Students can file a Pass/No Pass form with Admissions by the day prior to the last day of instruction.

Email the form to admissions@palomar.edu. The form is available at

<https://www.palomar.edu/enrollmentservices/forms/>

- Failure to attend classes or log onto Canvas may result in an 'FW' grade.
- Check exact dates and penalties in MyPalomar under "My Schedule."

Remember students MUST contact their high school counselor before dropping a class, as it may impact the students' high school graduation.

Grades

Passing classes with a 'C' or better is required for college credit at Palomar College. Understand that all grades will become part of the student's permanent college transcript and also understand failing grades can affect future financial aid in college.

Palomar College has hundreds of scholarships available with one application. See the Scholarship website for more information.

Parents

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

- FERPA (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act) protects the privacy of student educational records.
- As college students, dual enrollment participants are responsible for managing academic matters independently. Parents cannot communicate with instructors or access student records without the student's written consent.
- Regardless of age, dual enrollment students are considered college students, and parents cannot directly communicate with professors or the college without the student's permission.
- Student rights under FERPA transfer from the parent/guardian to the student, meaning students must manage their own academic affairs.
- Parents may participate in conversations or meetings with the student's permission.

- Parents, guardians, relatives, or friends cannot act on behalf of the student without formal written consent, as outlined in Section 99.5 of FERPA (FERPA | Protecting Student Privacy).

How to Support Your Student in College

Dual enrollment is an opportunity for parents to encourage their students to become more independent when it comes to self-advocacy. Encourage students to attend office hours to speak with their professor, to check their Palomar student email daily, to ask for help when they need it, and to follow-up on their grades. Ask students about their syllabus, homework, and test dates. Additionally, ask students to share their MyPalomar (student portal) and Canvas (learning platform). Remind students that college courses go at a faster pace and have more rigor; therefore, more study time is required.

How Can I Get Information About My Student?

While parents are not able to speak to professors about students in their class, parents are able to accompany their student in communicating with the professor in person, at the student’s discretion. Students will need to make an appointment during office hours.
