A.	CINE	106	Horror Film	CSU	Yes	G/P/NP	No	We have used our Cine 105 topics course to test out a number of courses that we might want to add to our curriculum. Since spring 2019 we have offered Horror Film, which has been one of our most popular offerings. Because genre is a central concept in cinema studies, and because we do not have a course focused on a genre in our curriculum, we offered Horror Film as a genre course that would attract student interest and allow us to dive deep into the concept of genre. Close attention to genre reinforces its centrality to how the film industry works, how viewers engage with film through generic conventions, and how film genres and culture change over time. Horror Film is particularly effective for the study of film given its transformations over time across multiple of subgenres, from classic monster horror to the slasher film and the supernatural. Course is proposed to satisfy the humanities for local GE and transfer. Another important reason we chose the Horror Genre is its significance for examining issues of equity and diversity. Horror films often tap into sublimated cultural anxieties that expose social tensions and contestations over gender, race and class inequities. For the above reasons, we would like to add this as an elective to our Cinema Studies Associate of Arts Degree and include it as an arts in general education requirement.	No	John McMurria

B.	FIRE	172D	Ethical Leadership for Instructors	CSU	No	G/P/NP	No	Palomar College is an Accredited Regional Training Program (ARTP) as established California State Fire Marshal – our accrediting authority. To become and maintain status as an ARTP, the entity (Palomar) needs to be a community college, provide a firefighter academy, provide a degree program in fire technology, and provide professional development classes for current fire personnel. Palomar College introduced a series of professional development classes that allows the participant to become a certified Fire Officer and Fire Instructor. Ethical Leadership for Instructors is a requirement to become a certified Fire Instructor. There are no competing classes in the Palomar curriculum and the class can only be taught by instructors certified with the California State Fire Marshal. All language in this META proposal comes from the California State Fire Marshal Course Plan (Objectives, prerequisites, etc.) and is attached to this proposal	No	Ed Sprague

G.5	ACTION: New Credit Programs - effective Fall 2023
	Program Title	Disci.	Awrd	Units	Justification	Orig.
A.	Foundations of Elementary Education	EDUC	CA	12-17	This program will introduce students into the educational path of K-12 teaching (with an emphasis in grades K-8). The program is the foundation for many paths: 1) the Child Development courses stack into the Associate in Arts in University Studies: Elementary Education Preparation; 2) the program includes 45 hours of service learning/observation necessary for many CSU credential programs; 3) the child development courses provide the units necessary for working as assistant teachers in early childhood education programs; 4) the three Education courses provide a foundation in educational practices and are transferable to various CSU colleges across the state. The program objectives include increasing the success of students in the University Studies: Elementary Education Preparation degree as these students will already have experience in the educational field.	Laurel Anderson
B.	Medium/ Heavy Duty Zero Emissions Vehicle Technologies	ZEVTEC	AS/ CA	18+	This is a new certificate program. The Medium/ Heavy Duty Zero Emissions Technologies program offers students the opportunity to learn about electric vehicles, hybrids, and Hydrogen-fueled vehicles. As the transportation sector shifts from fossil fuels, this is generating a new demand for qualified technicians who can maintain, service, and diagnose alternative-fuel vehicles. California's Executive Order N-79-20 sets the state's goal that 100% of in-state sales of new passenger cars and trucks will be zero emissions by 2035. All major manufacturers are setting goals that either directly mirror or closely line up with California. These courses are structured so that students have the best opportunity to learn the skills they need to meet the new demands from industry and its related technologies, while maintaining the fundamentals relevant to commercial vehicles. G.6.	ACTION: Credit Program Changes - effective fall 2023
	Program Title	Disci.	Awrd.	Units	Justification	Orig.
A.	Drone Operations	GEOG	CA	12-17	This is an interdisciplinary certificate that leverages existing courses in multiple disciplines to prepare students to become licensed drone operators. Members of our most recent advisory committee held in April, 2022 suggested that we replace the existing meteorology class (GEOG 110) in the Certificate with a photography-focused class for two reasons. Firstly, the aviation weather and meteorology topics in the FAA's Part 107 exam can be covered in the Part 107 preparatory course (GEOG 158). There is no need to go into the depths covered by GEOG 110 for the Part 107 exam. Secondly, since most drone operators will be taking photos for different purposes (e.g. mapping, real estate photography, roof inspection), they should have a good understanding of how to frame their shots and how to manually configure the drone camera's settings.	Wing H. Cheung
B.	Social Media	BUS	CA	12-17	Updating to remove GCMW 120 and add DBA 105. DBA 105 incorporates storytelling through video, an important and relevant skill. IN addition, it is offered more regularly allowing more students to complete	Mary Cassoni
