SCOPE:

An educational program designed to meet educational requirements for a specific professional license and is required for employment in an occupation.

An educational program that is marketed or advertised to meet the educational requirements for a license.

Each institution must do its own institutional research based upon the design and marketing of the institution's programs to determine if they may lead to professional licensure in each state where students (and prospective students) of your institution are located.

Example: A student residing in Nevada enrolls into Palomar's Real Estate Broker License Preparation program. Upon completion will the student be able to obtain a license in Nevada?
