To establish a priority, use the current Program Review and Planning (PRP) document submitted Spring 2009 (posted at PRP Supplemental Report Form) for this program or discipline. Identify from Box #2 in the PRP a priority for the upcoming academic year or develop a priority based on the data analysis discussed in Box #2.

| *2. Data Analysis (restate or summarize the data analysis from the PRP):                 In addition to tutoring, our department also provides proctoring services for on-line instructors. The added service of proctoring places a strain on our unit in light of budget reductions and expectations of future growth. Tutoring enrollments fluctuate as College enrollments fluctuate. Tutoring sees between 4 and 6% of college population every semester. Since it's inception in Spring 2005, proctoring services have more than doubled from 950 requests to 2166 in Spring 2007 with no additional funding and support. These figures are not reflected above. The limited conclusions we can draw from these data as presented, are first, that space needs continue. Second, we experience significant growth in an area outside the original mission of the department. |  |   |                                       |                       |                       |

6. Reflect on the progress your discipline and/or department is making on defining, implementing, and assessing course, program, GE/Institutional level SLOs. What have been the benefits and what have been the challenges?
 Plans for expansion and increase of tutor hourly salaries are on hold. Tutoring is concentrating on improving quality of services instead of quantity until budget woes are resolved. Still, Budget levels have forced cuts that have directly impacted students, staff, and communities. Our biggest challenge has been deciding when to assess ...Are we trying to gauge student learning of course content in general? Do we care about the knowledge the students bring with them at the start of the semester compared to the learning they will take away with them at the end? Does the extent of progress or improvement over a period of days or weeks matter? Are we interested in learning over time or at a specific point in the semester? Benefits: SLOs have helped us focus on higher order thinking skills as we assess student competencies, because ultimately they must not only know the material, but be able to use it. SLOs and assessments produce constructive data to modify services. SLOs in core classes have defined what our students should be able to do at the end of the course thereby guiding and enabling the students and tutors to selectively pick and choose best methods to study, digest, and synthesize a large volume of new information.
