BESSIE & ADOLPH HEYNE

Soon one of the earliest members of the Palomar College family will be moving from North County to San Diego. It may not seem like a very distant move to most of us, but if you had lived in the same home since 1940, you would find it is indeed a serious change.

Bessie and Adolph Heyne bought a home at 421 South Horne Street in Oceanside in 1940, and there they lived and reared their family until Adolph passed away in 1994. After this loss, and with both their children, Helen and James, now in their own homes and with their families in other cities, Bessie decided to close the old home, sell the house, and move into an apartment in San Diego.

Disposing of all the things which an active family can accumulate in over 50 years has taken all of her time and energy. Probably no home in Oceanside held as many books as did theirs. Adolph was fluent in three languages as well as English, and taught German, French, and Spanish at Oceanside-Carlsbad Junior College. In 1946, as the newly formed Palomar College was getting underway in shared quarters at Vista High School, Adolph joined our faculty, and taught his specialties until his retirement in 1969.

During his first year with Palomar College in late afternoon and evening classes in its Vista quarters, Adolph continued to teach his normal load at Oceanside. But after turning down a tempting offer from a four-year State University he definitely cast his lot with the new junior college in North County.

In 1942 he received the usual card from Selective Service, classifying him as Class IIA. On the same afternoon, he received a call from the president of the Oceanside-Carlsbad Junior College and High School Board of Trustees. He told Adolph that the schools were losing too many teachers and that he would take steps to cancel the call of the Selective Service. It caused Adolph to wonder what communication channels were at work that enabled the Board president to learn of the classification on the same day that he received his notice!

In his German classes at Oceanside-Carlsbad, he usually gathered the students on late Friday afternoons around a piano in his classroom and sang German songs. When war was declared against Germany, he questioned this practice for in the previous World War widespread anti-German attitudes prevailed all across the country. So he asked the superintendent for advice. He was told that if he did sing German songs in his classes, to simply close the windows.

In 1948, Bessie and Adolph, with the two young children, traveled by air to Paris and then by train to Switzerland, where for the first time his parents were able to see his family. Bessie brushed up on her German, and in a short time was able to report that she had been able to buy a pair of shoes without resorting to a word of English. Upon his return to Palomar at Vista, he found his classes were again in late afternoon and evening hours. This meant a tiring auto trip from Vista to Oceanside late at night on old Highway 778, narrow and winding. But in 1949, with the move of Palomar College into the Recreation Center in Vista, classes were held at normal daytime hours, and Adolph could feel relieved.

Duties always have a way of showing up just when a man wants to read. But Adolph put his early training to work, and spent much time repairing, repainting, and renovating his home and his rental properties. There was much more to this man than just the collector and reader of the hundreds of books in his home.

Bessie has been an active member of the local chapter of the AAUW for many years, and has been involved with service in the First Methodist Church of Oceanside. The church choir will surely miss her voice, and someone else will have to arrive early to make the coffee.

So this wonderful family which has meant so much to Palomar College must change direction. Many of the books will be sent to James and Helen, and many others have been donated to The Patrons of Palomar College for their annual book sale on November 8 and 9, 1994, Student Center, San Marcos Campus.

TWO FROM THE PAST ARE MISSING

We are sorry to see that the large brick standard bearing the College name, formerly located near the main entrance to the campus, had to be dismantled to provide space for the new entrance, now protected by a stop light on Mission Road.

It was designed by Mr. C. J. Paderewski, the College architect for many years, and was constructed by the Rotary Clubs of Escondido, Vista, and San Marcos in the early 1960's when Dr. John W. Dunn was president of Palomar. A bronze plate has been prepared to place on the new entrance marker, commemorating the Rotary Clubs which erected the earlier standard. A time capsule which had been buried in the base of the original marker at the time of construction was not recovered.

One of the first wooden buildings brought out to the campus from a nearby Navy base was used as the center for maintenance and storage for many years. After a permanent maintenance building was erected on the upper part of the campus, the building became an adjunct to the Art Department. Its served its purposes well, but is being replaced this year with a new building. Just to the south of it where the Art Department workrooms are now located, were the cafeteria and student lounge, long since replaced by permanent buildings.

SEPTEMBER'S PACRA MEETING

On September 24, PACRA members gathered, 30 strong, at the Casa de Ricardo in Escondido for a fine Mexican lunch and social meeting. This "South of the Border, Down Mexico Way" lunch was very enjoyable, with not enough time for all the conversations which took place. Look for an announcement concerning an early spring social meeting--we hope all of you can be there.

He gives twice who gives soon because he will soon be called upon to give again.
-- Benjamin Franklin

PALOMAR COLLEGE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Palomar College opened its first classes in September 1946, so the 50th anniversary of its beginning will soon be upon us. The 50th ANNIVERSARY COMMITTEE has started regular meetings with many tentative plans discussed, but much thought and work remains.

The 50th ANNIVERSARY COMMITTEE is made of Dale Wallenius, chair, from the Advancement Office, Jo Anne Giese from Finance and Administrative Services, Dr. Peter Gach from Performing Arts Department, Loren Lee from Social Sciences Department, Judy Mancuso from the Advancement Office, Mrs. Phyllis Nimmo from The Patrons of Palomar College, Mike Norton from Public Relations Office, Donna Robillard from Marketing Communications, Mr. Tom Humphrey of Computer Science and Information systems, Mrs. Petra Caballero of Student Services, Mr. Michael Steirnagle of the Art Department, and Dr. John D. Schettler from the Palomar College Retirees' Association.

This committee is charged with overall planning and coordination of the many events which will develop over the next several months. One project, already well under way, is the writing of the History of Palomar College, 1946-1996. Dr. Pat Archer has been designated by College authorities to prepare this history, using the assistance of anyone who feels he can contribute to the history. Pat started working in early summer 1994, and as of October 1 had completed rough drafts of the first four chapters. Plans to publish the history have not yet been made, but it should be a best seller.

The 50th ANNIVERSARY COMMITTEE has confirmed that the actual celebration year shall extend through the 1995 academic year starting in August 1995 and extending through the 1996 calendar year, ending in December. This gives plenty of time for planning several events which will involve many departments of the College.

One might think that such a history would be dull reading, and even duller in preparation, but the very opposite is true. The drafts of the early chapters are edited continually to include new material and to clarify some previous writing.

One primary source of written historical material is the series of bound volumes, HISTORY OF PALOMAR COLLEGE, composed of newspaper clippings from 1945 to the present, mounted on laminated pages and stoutly bound into large volumes. These average 150 pages per volume, with two or three volumes necessary to cover some of the years. At present, there are 85 such volumes in the reference section of the Phil Putnam Memorial Library, Palomar College, San Marcos.

One of the projects undertaken by Dr. John Schettler is indexing each volume so that material can be quickly found. A second index will be a single alphabetized listing of all names of persons who have appeared in these clippings. As of the 1961-62 volume, there are 40 pages of single-spaced lines, each with name and volume/page references. (Say a good word for computers!)

The collection of these newspapers clippings started with Mrs. Esther Nesbin Altmann, whose services as librarian date from the opening of the college, and extended over 30 years. She had seen collections of such news material when at work in an earlier librarian position, and felt that starting at Day-One would be appropriate for Palomar. The clippings were kept in envelopes, year by year, until 1988 when The Patrons of Palomar College, under the guidance of Mrs. Mary McClain and others, endorsed and financed the project of assembling and organizing these into annual volumes. The preparation of the bound volumes was done by the Golden Rule Press of San Pasqual Valley.

There are several other sources of written material to study. Dr. George Toll wrote a history of the college's early years, and Adolph Heyne's Autobiography contained much good source material. Eugene Stevens also wrote a history covering a somewhat later period than Dr. Toll's. Copies of The Telescope, the campus newspaper, dating from the first months, are interesting sources of news from the students' points of view. Mrs. Esther Altmann has tape recorded her memories of early Palomar, the voice from the earliest days.

We hope any of our readers who wish to contribute ideas will forward them to John Schettler. Rest assured your work will be appreciated.

TUTOR PAT MACDONALD

The new homework center at the Escondido Public Library has attracted the volunteer services of Pat Macdonald, one of PACRA'S members from the English Department. This service allows students an opportunity to work with a teacher, one-on-one, with their assigned school work. If others are interested in volunteering for tutoring, please contact senior librarian Pat Buscher at the Escondido Public Library, 741-4683. This service will soon be extended to the new branch library at 2245 E. Valley Parkway. It's always fun to work with young learners.

STUDENT ENROLLMENT THIS FALL

Information from Mr. Herman Lee, Director of Enrollment Services, shows that there are more day students than last year. The total enrollment in credit classes has increased slightly from 20,167 to 20,185. Classes in high demand include English, mathematics, and science. The number who withdrew in the two week drop-and-add period decreased significantly.

INDER SINGH

Inder Singh, a counselor at Palomar for twenty-two years, passed away at his home on August 4, 1994. Born in Fresno, he graduated from the University of Southern California where he attended on a double scholarship for basketball and track and field. He was a talented 6-foot 5-inch athlete, excelled as a hurdler and high-jumper at USC. One year he competed in the Olympic Trials.

He taught and coached basketball in Calipatria from 1959 until he moved to San Marcos in 1969. He served as a counselor at San Marcos High School, then transferred to Palomar where he was in the Counseling Department for 22 years. At the time of his death he was Dean of Student Services. His quiet strength and spirit was an inspiration to all who knew him.

His replacement as Interim Dean of Counseling, Guidance, and Career Development will be Judith Eberhart until the permanent position is filled.

RECENT PERSONAL NOTES

Richard Pilcher, Staff Assistant, Mt. Carmel Education Center, retired effective July 31, 1994, under Group II of the Retirement Health and Dental Plan of December 8, 1987. Rick, a 16-year employee of the College was named Palomar College's "classified employee of the year" in 1994. Lee Squires, president of the Classified Employees Organization stated that "when staffing and resources are limited, he puts in the extra elbow grease to keep things operating smoothly."

Frank Hankin, Associate Professor and Counselor in EOPS retired effective May 27, 1994, under Group I of the Retirement Health and Dental Plan of December 8, 1987.

Burtine Morse, Secretary of the Social Sciences Department, will retire effective December 30, 1994, under Group I of the Retirement Health and Dental Plan of December 8, 1987.

Bill Bedford, Physics and Engineering Department is seriously ill. He has been at the Kaiser Hospital in San Diego for some time. We hope that our next news will be encouraging, and that he will regain his health.

William (Bill) Tefft of Vista, Lorna's husband, passed away on August 28, 1994, age 75. During World War II he served in the U. S. Navy, followed by 20 years of service for the Honolulu Police Department. Besides Lorna, he is survived by a son, four daughters, a sister, fourteen grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

ONE OF PALOMAR'S EARLY ART TEACHERS

Thelma Speed Huston became one of Palomar's art teachers in the early years, starting from a small class held in a garage to the present Fine Arts Center with its own gallery. Her name appears on the Art Department Faculty year after year, and countless residents of North County have been her enthusiastic students.

After graduating from the Pratt Institute School of Fine and Applied Art in New York City, she began to work as a colorist and designer in the textile industry. Her contacts in New York included celebrities such as Clark Gable.

Her work has been strongly influenced by Hawaiian scenes, which she knows well after fifteen trips there. Displays of her work include shows such as the New York World's Fair Contemporary Exhibit, the San Diego Exposition, and the National Orange Show. She has captured 55 awards, including several at the San Diego County Fair.

Loving to work on location, she has captured on canvas several scenes from Vista's past. Her life has been centered around things she loves to do, for according to her, "every job that I had, I loved."

DR. BONNIE ROGERS NOW A PRESIDENT

Our former Dean of Library Services, Dr. Bonnie Rogers, assumed the duties of President of Porterville Community College in Tulare County, near Sequoia National Park in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada.

She came to Palomar as librarian in 1969, and succeeded Mrs. Esther Nesbin Altmann as Dean of Learning Resources in 1977. Prior to that she had served as Evening College Dean in 1976. When she left Palomar, she became Dean of Learning Resources at Saddleback College in Orange County.

Bonnie is a native of Kentucky, receiving her degrees from Morehead State University, the University of Maryland, and the University of Southern California. She taught in the public schools of Long Beach and Prince Georges County, Maryland. After serving as cataloging librarian at the U. S. Naval War College in Newport, R. I., she became a reference librarian at U. S. International University in San Diego. She has been a member of AAUW, NEA, the California Library Association, the American Library Association, and the Order of Eastern Star. In 1972 she served as president of the San Diego Area Community Colleges Learning Resources Cooperative, and was made a fellow of the U. S. Labor Management Relations Services.

Congratulations, Bonnie, and drop in to see us when you are down this way.

LEGISLATIVE ADVOCACY

PACRA members who are residents of California were called upon in September to consider addressing letters to Governor Pete Wilson supporting a decision from him to sign AB 3474 (O'Connell) which was on his desk.

This bill would have relieved the dire needs of the community colleges of the state with respect to the property tax shortfall. This shortfall is large this year, about $15,000,000, and the amount should be supplemented with state funds. In the past three years the shortfalls in income have amounted to $203,000,000, statewide. The bill, passed by both House and Senate, would have done that, but there was no clear indication that the Governor would agree to sign it. Without these funds there will be devastating effects upon students and curricula. The income budgets of community colleges are already stretched very thin, and have no room for continuous negative adjustments.

Unfortunately, Governor Pete Wilson on the last day of September, chose to ignore the advice which we and others offered, and vetoed the bill that would have given fiscal support to community college districts when property taxes fall below state projections. These shortages in expected property taxes had already caused Palomar College to reduce its budget by $600,000 in July. All these problems are delayed reactions caused by the passage of Proposition 13 some years ago, at which time the community colleges really lost their community identity, and became institutions supported by state funding.

RECOMMENDED READING

Two valuable articles appeared in Consumer Reports in their August 1994 and September 1994 issues. The first was entitled "Filling the Gaps in Medicare," the second "Medicare Under Siege." Perhaps you can borrow issues from friends--they are worthwhile.

For those of you who live in mobile homes (or manufactured housing) you might find value in reading the AARP Bulletin for October 1994 an article "Mobile Home Battles--Residents versus Park Owners."

HARD TO BELIEVE DEPARTMENT

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) has made rulings that prevent the College from using the previously undeveloped land on the east side of the campus from the Cactus and Succulent Garden to the Arboretum. It seems that the gnatcatcher has priority, and at the present time there can be no development of the property. The birds are said to nest in the native vegetation in the spring, and under present law and regulation they have priority over people.

Here is a quotation from Voltaire which may fit some occasions today: "I advise you to go on living solely to enrage those who are paying your annuities."

PALOMAR EVENTUALLY ANSWERS

In 1948, the staff of Palomar was preparing to move from its old quarters in Vista High School to the "new" facility in San Marcos. The San Marcos Chamber of Commerce was a bit worried that the authorities might continue moving, and end up in Escondido. So the Chamber wrote to the College to find out if there was any substance to the rumors.

For reasons not fully understood, the letter was unanswered, and turned up in the files at the College as the "diggers of history" were at work this summer. Dr. Boggs answered this summer, with apologies to the Chamber for the unusual delay.

JIM AND JULIE MCNUTT

Jim and Julie McNutt (Graphic Arts 66/79) are Escondido residents again after Jim's work took the couple to Brazil and Colorado. For two years Jim was the first executive secretary of the Brazilian Association of Christian Publishers in Sao Paulo. The association grew to include about 40 members during Jim's tenure. Before leaving Brazil, Jim authored a text in Portuguese for beginning writers.

On their return from Brazil, OC International, a missionary sending agency with field personnel in twenty countries, asked Jim to work at their headquarters in Colorado Springs. His activities there included editing a magazine, writing a monthly employee newsletter, as well as designing and writing a variety of other publications. During their work in Colorado Springs, Jim and Julie took time-out for a trip to China where they spent two months teaching English as a Second Language.

NORLIN IN CHINA

Dick Norlin reports that he has just spent his fifth summer with a team teaching in China. This year was at the Shanghai Institute of Science and Technology Management, located in Jiading, a peaceful suburb with wide boulevards about a 1/2-hour bus ride from the heart of Shanghai. On weekends his generous Chinese hosts took them on trips to downtown Shanghai and to the cities of Hangzhou, Suzhou, Wuxi, and Yaolin. The teachers followed the six-week curriculum adopted by the English Language Institute/China. The team of eight teachers instructed 98 Chinese teachers of English drawn from the Shanghai Municipal District's high schools. As an educational in-service training program it succeeded very well. At the closing ceremony his team was presented with a red velvet banner bearing in golden Chinese characters the motto "Hard work, good harvest!"

FROM FRAN AND HORACE DIXON

Their last day at Palomar was July 29, with all sorts of good times and "free lunches." Now they're settling into their new home in Florence, Oregon, on the Pacific Coast 60 miles west of Eugene. Another mile and they would have been very cold and wet! He has been busy setting up an office, and Fran has been making a house into a home. But they found time to visit three or four county fairs in their area. In September they were on their way on a sight-seeing trip in Oregon and the Rocky Mountain States. If all goes as planned they will be in the Escondido area during November.

BENEFITS FOR SOME RETIREES

The Governing Board of the College on September 13, 1994 approved some changes promoted by PACRA to those benefits approved by the Board on February 22, 1994. These changes affect only the spouses of deceased retirees provided the retirees retired between July 1, 1974 and July 1, 1986 and was the legal spouse of the retiree at the time of retirement from Palomar Community College District.

The changes involve the elimination of the phrase "50%" in paragraphs (1) and (2) of the February resolutions:

1. If the surviving spouse is eligible for Parts A and B of Medicare, the District will pay the cost of medical care provided by a "Medicare Risk HMO," or the District will provide payment for a reasonable Medicare Supplement, not to exceed the annual supercomposite rate for the self-funded health plan.
2. For those surviving spouses eligible for, but not enrolled in Medicare A & B, the district will provide enrollment assistance and payment for Medicare premiums as long as the combined cost of Medicare and the "Medicare Risk HMO" do not exceed the annual supercomposite rate for the self-funded health plan.
3. If the surviving spouse is not eligible for Medicare, the District will pay the cost of an individual insurance plan not to exceed the annual supercomposite rate for the self-funded health plan.
4. The retiree and/or spouse may waive retirement health benefits in exchange for a one-time payment by the District of 100% of the annual supercomposite rate. Once made, this decision is irrevocable."

The District Board also approved this policy for dental benefits for the same group of surviving spouses:

"BE IT RESOLVED, That the Governing Board of Palomar Community College District approve dental benefits for surviving spouses of deceased retirees providing retiree retired between July 1, 1974, and July 1, 1986, and was eligible for medical benefits and the spouse was the legal spouse of the retiree at the time of retirement from the Palomar Community College District."

The policy on dental benefits was not exactly the form promoted by PACRA, but it does clarify an important area of needs of retirees. These policies affect only the 1974-1986 retirees and their spouses. All retirees of subsequent years fall under specific policies developed in years after 1986. Retirees before the 1974 date, unfortunately, are covered by no district-sponsored insurance plans after retirement.

PACRA's representatives, Dr. Fred Huber, Jean Huston, and Dr. Omar Scheidt have spent much time in consultation with the Administration and the Governing Board of the College, and deserve high commendations from PACRA members.

THE CRITIC SPOKE TOO OFTEN

For years the editor has had a firm opinion about the use of a certain adverb. It all started on a trip through Texas where it is not unusual to see highway signs advising you to "Drive Friendly." His warning to his young children in the car was to observe the Texans' incorrect use of an adjective, "friendly," to modify a verb, "drive." Obviously, this would require an adverb, which would alter the sign to read "Drive Friendily."

Recently he became aware that the word "friendly" does not appear in dictionaries, and that these word authorities list "friendly" as an adjective, of course, but also as an adverb, meaning "in a friendly manner." Then the word book provided a related adverb, "friendlily." Now you know; now the editor knows:

MORAL: Always carry a dictionary when you instruct children from the driver's seat.

PURCHASE OF THE ESCONDIDO CENTER

The Governing Board has taken action to purchase, rather than rent, the facilities at East Valley Parkway and Midway Drive in Escondido for $7 million. There will be savings of over $9 million over 25 years if the property is purchased instead of paid in rent. The purchase price will be paid off over 25 years. This campus consists of 55,000 sq. ft. of classroom space with surrounding parking areas. About 5,000 students now attend classes there, compared with more than 20,000 at the San Marcos main campus. The Escondido Campus Center has been very successful for three years under the direction of Jim Clayton, June Rady, Duke Brantley, and Carol Stroecker. The College is also searching ways to acquire a center in the Poway area.

NEWS & NOTES

The front entrance on Mission Road is getting lots of new landscaping. Trees and shrubs are now waiting for the winter rains. A College committee is studying forms and locations of a new marker sign for the entrance.

Probably many retirees do not know of a relatively recent entrance at the northeast corner of the campus, leading to Twin Oaks Valley Road. And then there's the very popular entrance off Los Posas Road several blocks north of Mission Road, heavily used by students.

Virgil Bergman has been working with a group to design and renovate the North County training facility in Vista for the San Diego Center for the Blind. This rehabilitation training center for vision impaired adults is located at 1835 Bonair Road, Vista, under the direction of Betty Gough.

Merrill D. Tyler, Escondido, Student Body president at Palomar, recently was elected president of the American Student Association of Community Colleges.

Dale Wallenius, Chief Advancement Officer of the Palomar College Development foundation, won the 1994 Resource Development Staff Leadership Award sponsored by the California Community Colleges Foundation. The Foundation has achieved its 1994 goal of $475,000 and is moving rapidly toward $500,000.

Helen and John Schettler celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception sponsored by their three daughters and their families. The Reception Hall of the First United Methodist Church in Escondido was filled with over one hundred guests, including John's brother, William, from Maryland, and Helen's sister, Pat, from Indiana. This enabled the original wedding party of 1944 to sit together again, but this time attended by children and grandchildren.

Palomar will assist Yosemite Community College District by conducting up to 100 units of college credit courses needed for licensing child development personnel. Yosemite District will pay the costs of the program.

Retirement. There is very recent news that Maria E. Backart, Financial Aid Advisor, will retire effective January 31, 1995, under Group II of the Retirement Health and Dental Plan of 1987.

The Palomar College Foundation and the President's Associates have donated funds to provide for released time this fall semester for Dr. Pat Archer to write and produce a book celebrating the 50th anniversary of Palomar College.

The College Educational Television Department will cooperate with the San Marcos Unified School District to produce a high quality fifteen-minute promotional videotape for use by the San Marcos District.
