The shoplifter

(Ashoka is store manager in a lady's clothing store)

Police: Excuse me, ma'am. Are you the one that called about a shoplifter? Are you the store manager?

Ashoka: Yes, I am. I just called you about an incident involving a shoplifter 10 minutes ago.

Police: Can you give us some details on how this happened?

Ashoka: Well, I was helping a customer, and a short lady came in with a big shopping bag in her hand.

Police: So how did this incident happen?

Ashoka: Well, as I was helping a customer look for a dress with matching colors for her shoes, a short lady went to the back side of the store and started looking for some pants.

Police: So when did you notice she was acting strange?

Ashoka: Well, as I turned around to greet her, she grabbed two of the pants and put them into her big bag.

Police: What happened next?

Ashoka: She ran outside with her bag, turned to the right, and a car was waiting for her at the corner.

Police: Did you have a good description of the short lady?

Ashoka: She was about 5 feet 2 inch and had short curly hair and dark glasses. She was wearing baggy plaid pants for a man and a sandy colored blouse.

Police: Your description fits the same description of a shoplifter yesterday at Macy's. Thanks for the details. We will be on the look-out for her. Thanks ma'am.
