D. DISCUSSION ITEMS

1. May Revise

Dr. Amador provided an update on the May Revise as it relates to Palomar College. (Exhibit D1) The Governor is funding for a 1% growth, however apportionment has been cut. Cuts to instructional equipment and library materials are not as severe as anticipated. Matriculation cuts suffered an 11% overall cut. There was erosion in part-time faculty compensation as well. Dr. Amador discussed Prop. 98 and the difference between the general fund and local property taxes. The general fund is better off than before, yet what the community colleges received is still below the Prop. 98 split. The anticipated property tax has not been determined. Originally, Palomar's revenue reduction for 03-04 was $6.5 million. At this time, it appears the reduction is $3.5 million. This means that most classified staff positions will be saved at this point.

There are many variables that may influence the budget's final number. Continuing concerns are 03-04 property taxes and the fact that the budget is based on a 1/2% sales tax increase and an increase in the vehicle license fee tax. This will be decided at the legislative level. Another variable is concurrent reenrollment. Up until last week, the Chancellor's office lead everyone to believe that any concurrent enrollment loss would be directed to the specific districts that had done something inappropriate. Now, colleges are being told that all districts are going to take a proportionate hit for FTES. Minimal cuts of 1% were made to categorical programs, except for CARE, which was cut by 45%. This may have staffing implications. Another variable is that PFE may be cut by 50%, which would mean another $330,000 cut for Palomar. Advocacy efforts are still extremely important.

2. Instruction Reorganization

Ms. Lutz distributed the Instruction reorganization chart. There were no questions or comments. (Exhibit D2)

3. Institutional Review Annual Report

Dr. Rourke distributed a handout and discussed the findings of the 2002-2003 Institutional Review Committee Annual Report. This will be the last report under the old model. The committee took action on 33 college departments, reviewing 11 of them: Art, Athletics, Community Education, EOPS, Information Services, Institutional Research and Planning, Office of Counsel, Office of Student Affairs, Performing Arts, Physical Education, and Public Safety Programs. Dr. Rourke pointed out the outstanding accomplishments of some departments. After a department submitted their self-study, committee members reviewed the document, met with representatives of the department, completed a review and prepared the final recommendations. These recommendations were shared with both the department and the department's supervisor.

Dr. Amador requested these recommendations be discussed at the planning councils and incorporated in any planning efforts. She stated these report should be taken seriously as an in-depth review of the area took place. The commendations will be listed in the College's Year End Report. Dr. Rourke thanked the committee members for their work preparing this document and the departments who submitted a self-study. (Exhibit D3)

4. Budget Reduction Plans with Priorities from Planning Councils:

- a. Finalize priorities
- President's Office and Advancement (Exhibit D4b)
 No changes
- Administrative Services (Exhibit D4c)
 Move item 12, Contracts Officer, to item 18. Everything will be reordered.
- d. Human Resources (Exhibit D4d)No changes
- e. Instruction (Exhibit D4e)

Remove item 66. The position will be removed as there has been a resignation in foreign languages and the person will now be 50% ESL and 50% foreign languages, resulting in a $41,000 savings. Item 71 is being eliminated. No one will be laid off as this position was unfilled.

f. Student Services (Exhibit D4f)
Tutoring is restored and the Dean, Student Support Programs position is eliminated, resulting in a $137,000 savings. Mr. Madrigal stated the EOPS/CARE Supervisor and Staff Aide positions will not be funded

Dr. Amador provided an update on the status of CCCSAT. The CCCSAT grant ends on June 30. The Chancellor's office told the College they could no longer split positions between CCCSAT and e-Conferencing. The Chancellor's office may not provide the funds to cover the interim between grant periods. The College cannot afford to cover staff costs and requested the Chancellor's office guarantee in writing that they will pay for this swing period.

5. Evaluation of Strategic Planning Council Performance

Dr. Amador provided a brief update on the history of the Strategic Planning Council. The formal structure was approved in January, 2003, and the Council has experienced a half year using the process. Ms. Barton was asked to write a self-evaluation for members to complete. She distributed a draft of questions relating to self-evaluation and the governance structure. Discussion ensued and changes were made to the document. Ms. Barton will revise the document and email it to members by the end of the week. She requested that everyone return the self-evaluations by the end of next week. (Exhibit D5)

Institutional Review Committee

Date:

May 20, 2003

Subject: 2002-2003 Annual Report

The Institutional Review Committee has completed its assignment for this year. The Committee applauds the departments reviewed for the exceptional work they do on behalf of our students. Here are a few representative examples of the outstanding accomplishments of our colleagues:

- Athletics developed an excellent management, counseling and tracking program that promotes success of their student athletes.
- Extended Opportunity Programs and Services (EOPS) increased its participation rate more than 300%, increasing its retention rate from 42% to 85%, and its outstanding graduation rate (EOPS students represent 7% of Palomar graduates while only representing approximately 3% of the student body).
- Institutional Research and Planning improved the quality and integrity of the data that is used for reports.
- Student Affairs efforts made a new Student Center a reality.
- Public Safety Department efforts obtained outside funding and support resulting in an annual savings of $100,000.

A tremendous amount of effort was again spent in the institutional review process. All participants in this process deserve recognition for their efforts.

Summary of Committee Activities

The Committee took action on 33 college departments this year. Nineteen were scheduled for institutional review in 2002-2003, Table 1. The remaining fifteen departments were carried over from previous academic years, Table 2.

Specific Recommendations

This section contains the Committee's specific recommendation(s) for each department we reviewed this year. These recommendations were made following considerable interaction with each department. Once the department submitted its self-study, Committee members reviewed the document. Next, Committee members met with representatives of the department to ask questions, to clarify issues identified during the preliminary review, and to accept additional input. The department was given the opportunity to respond to issues raised at this meeting. Then the Committee completed its review and prepared its final recommendations. Finally, the recommendations were shared with both the department and the department's supervisor.

 - 1. EOPS has worked to improve the exchange of information with other departments on campus to improve efficiency in serving students.
 - 2. EOPS has increased outreach efforts that have resulted in a participation increase of more than 300% in this program.
 - 3. Efforts to increase retention in the program have resulted in a change from 42% to 85%.

 - EOPS is a state leader in using a computer database to track EOPS student success and has been asked to make a presentation on its system at the statewide conference for the past few years.
 - EOPS should be commended for producing an outstanding and thorough self-study. It has been the pleasure of this subcommittee to work with the EOPS staff.
- C. The service provided by the EOPS program has improved participation and success in a population of students who might not otherwise be able to attend Palomar College.  - 4. Work to solve communication problems with other units on campus.
 - 5. Obtain additional classroom space to accommodate larger classes.
 - 6. Extend the existing lease for the Public Safety Training Center.

- C. The Public Safety department provides a service to the community that cannot be understated. There is a growing demand for police officers and firefighters due to an expected 45% attrition in the next five years. The department will struggle to meet this need if it is not allowed to grow and take advantage of partnership opportunities it has already established.

The Institutional Review Process

An effective institutional review process continues to elude the college.

Our current process has been functioning for six years. It is thorough but highly labor intensive. Departments expend untoward hours reviewing their activities. The Institutional Review Committee expends hundreds of hours reviewing the resulting narrative reports, meeting with departments, and making recommendations.

The current process is not universally supported and several departments have refused to participate. Committee recommendations are ignored more often than not. The failure of the college to develop an effective institutional review process is expected to result in a third consecutive accreditation recommendation to develop an effective process.

Institutional review is fundamentally flawed in a number of ways. There is no link between institutional review and resource allocation or reallocation. The Committee, as constituted, lacks expertise in most areas being reviewed. The process requires six years to review the entire college. Most significantly, the college is losing an opportunity to reflect on and improve its already outstanding teaching, learning, and community service.

Because of these recognized deficiencies in institutional review, Strategic Planning Council directed the Institutional Review Committee to develop an improved institutional review model.

Proposed Expertise-Based Institutional Review

The Committee wanted to improve as many of the recognized deficiencies as possible. The target was to devise a review process that is:

- simple
- annual
- expertise-based
- data and evidence based
- less labor intensive significantly reducing the narrative component of the review
- linked to resource allocation and reallocation
- linked to strategic planning
- inclusive with review of all college operations
- is easily modifiable allowing each division of the college to tailor the process to its unique needs
- clear in its accountability for addressing review recommendations
- inclusive involving all constituencies at all stages in the review process

A task force was established to develop the revised process. The task force developed the following model process, see Appendix 1 for flow chart.

Outcome/Product: Summary document of recommended action and results of council's review. This document is forwarded to the Strategic Planning Council.

Feedback: Deans and administrative program directors are responsible for communicating the outcome and results back to their departments.

Strategic Planning Council

Responsible Party: President

Participants: Strategic Planning Council – (and interested parties)

Role/Tasks:

- Receives the results of each council's annual review (Instruction, Student Services, Fiscal Services, Human Resources, President's Office)
- Makes recommendations regarding resource allocation or reallocation to Revenue Allocation Committee
- Provides formal feedback at the institutional level regarding its analysis and review in these areas: institutional effectiveness; program needs and status; and student learning outcomes assessment planning and implementation Outcome/Product: Summary document of recommended action and results of the council's analysis and review.

Feedback: Chairs of the planning councils are responsible for communicating the outcome and results back to their areas.

This process has been shared with all employee groups and the initial response has been positive.

BUDGET REDUCTION PLAN

DEPARTMENT/FUNCTION:

HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES

CURRENT FUNCTION(S) PROVIDED:

Employer/Employee Relations, Employment Services, Health Benefits, Employee Records, Adjunct Faculty Hiring, Short-Term/Hourly Employee Hiring, all other general human resource components.

PROPOSED CHANGES TO FUNCTION(S):

- Combine Human Resources and Payroll Functional Specialist Position
- Employment Services reduced by 1.5 FTE

IMPACT OF CHANGES (BASED ON CRITERIA):

With the elimination of 1.5 FTE in Employment Services, efficiencies will be affected and additional time will be requested to perform all employment services functions.

Combining of the HR and Payroll Functional Specialists positions will result in reduced services to both Human Resource Services and Payroll. All functions will be accommodated, it will take more time.

The reduction of budget dollars from the 400010 and 500010 accounts will mean that there will be fewer dollars available to run the HR department.

SAVINGS ACHIEVED (INDICATE HOW ACHIEVED; LIST POSITIONS, IF APPLICABLE):

Joseph L. Madrigal Office of Student Services

April 10, 2003

TO:

STRATEGIC PLANNING COUNCIL

FROM:

Mr. Joseph L. Madrigal

Vice President of Student Services

SUBJECT:

Proposed Budget Reductions, Student Services, 2003/04

The attached list of proposed budget reductions in Student Services for 2003/04 is hereby forwarded to the Strategic Planning Council. These reductions were reviewed by the Student Services Planning Council during its regular meetings on March 19th, April 2nd and April 9th, 2003. The following concerns pertaining to these budget reductions have been expressed by the Student Services Planning Council members and Student Services staff:

- The reductions in staff positions are directed mainly at the classified staff.
- The EOP&S and DSP&S programs have been earmarked for budget cuts that, if realized, will significantly impact the level of services provided to their students. (It is important to note that these categorical programs budget cuts are not part of the college's general fund)
- The reductions in Counseling / Matriculation are also disproportionate in comparison to the college wide general fund cuts. In addition to the cuts mentioned on the attached pages, an approximate total of $300,000 has been taken from Counseling hourly to backfill for the EOP&S and DSP&S counselors.
- Other budget areas, independent of employee positions, should be considered before any staff positions are reduced / eliminated. (e.g. – staff furloughs, contract reductions, pay cuts, matrix freeze, reduction in health benefits, SERP, sabbaticals, etc.)
- Each manager, following consultation with staff, has been asked to develop a priority list identifying the order of cuts to be restored should the college be in such a position to do so. Statements justifying the restoration of cuts should include the rationale for restoration and the impact on students.

The Deans / Directors have prioritized the reductions in terms of importance given any budget restorations.
