Human Trafficking & Palomar's Response

Presented by:
Students Against Human Trafficking

What is human trafficking?

Also known as modern slavery, human trafficking is a global epidemic that involves the exploitation of labor in people of all ages. Whether that be in agriculture, waitressing or sex trafficking, which holds the highest percentage of victims in San Diego County.

How do we get victims from the street to become successful?

The scope of the problem

Worldwide

- H.T. is the second largest criminal industry in the world (behind drugs)
- Approximately 27 million people are trafficked around the world

San Diego

- Makes a 810 million dollar a year profit
- 110 gangs involved
- 8,830-11,773 sex trafficking victims
- Average age of entry: 16 years old

What Current Recovery Centers Are Doing

North County Lifeline, Generate Hope, La Maestra Community Health Centers, San Diego Youth Services, Bilateral Safety Corridor Coalition (BSCC),

- Offers supportive counseling
- Mental health and therapy services
- Crisis services and case management

What Palomar Does (Education)

- The help Palomar could provide would not be a transition center or task force. These things already exist independent of Palomar.
- Palomar offers higher-education, so this is what should be offered to those coming from transition centers.

PALOMAR COLLEGE®
Learning for Success

What Palomar Can Do

- Palomar can make connections with the existing centers for human trafficking.
- These connections would create the next step for recovery by supplying post-victims with an education
- Streets → Transition Center → Education → Career

The Connections

Sisters of the Streets

- a non profit organization based in San Diego, focused on rehabilitation and continuous growth for those who have been sexually exploited. Encouragement through self-sufficiency!

Soroptimist of Vista

- seeks to raise awareness and educate communities on the nature of human trafficking and provide a platform to share information and improve victim services.

Our subcommittee

- Founded in Spring Semester 2017
- Mission statement: We aim to educate, raise awareness, fundraise, and end human trafficking throughout the Palomar College Campus and North County area.
- What we have done so far:
  - Film screening of Chosen with a discussion panel in w
  - Established a foundation to advocate awareness, char the future of our cause!
  - Made connections with current human trafficking transition centers

The Conclusion

- Palomar will not be a transition center, nor a task force.
- Palomar will do what it does best: provide an education.
- Therefore, Palomar can supply the necessary step for victims to transition from the streets to obtaining a successful career.

Streets → Transition Center → Education → Career
